Beaverton Woman Arrested For Delivery of Heroin & Methamphetamine

On September 6, 2012 officers from the Beaverton Police Departments Neighborhood Resource Team (NRT) arrested Rachel Harp 33 years old of Beaverton, for delivery of heroin and methamphetamine. Harp is a registered nurse and most recently was employed as a Neonatal Intensive Care Unit Nurse.

The (NRT) received information from community complaints that Harp was selling heroin & methamphetamine out of her residence. Harp was stopped in her car by the (NRT) and a subsequent search of her vehicle and residence turned up heroin and methamphetamine, some packaged for sale. Items used in the packaging and sale of drugs were also found in Harp's residents. With Harp at the time of the stop was Gregory Hackney 37 years old of Portland. Hackney was arrested for possession of heroin.

Harp was charged with Unlawful possession and delivery of heroin and methamphetamine.

Harp and Hackney were both transported to the Washington County Jail and lodged on these above listed charges.
